Chinese Missions Outreach Seminar Phu-Ket, Southern Thailand

Dear Friends and Supporters;

God's Blessings: A quick note before we return home. I believe the teaching symposium for Chinese mainland house churches that Cheryl and I partnered in was a huge success. We participated alongside other speakers. English-speaking Singaporean Chinese believers also attended, some of whom interpreted for us.

Analyze: <sup>(1)</sup> How to decrease any potential communication failure by determining its causes. <sup>(2)</sup> Establish a course of action to increase the effectiveness of their vision of a worldwide evangelistic outreach movement. <sup>(3)</sup> Proceed according to the best course of action, i.e., provide tools and train Chinese missionaries accordingly.

Tools: The needed tools are effective methodology, procedures, knowledge, and ability of how to successfully acquire the languages, cultures, and worldviews of the unreached ethnic people groups they seek to reach.

Goals: The goal being to communicate the Gospel message to them in an effective manner, to establish thriving, self-governing, self-sustaining, and self-propagating churches. While I was sharing with the Chinese house-church leaders, they decided to appoint me as their missions advisory consultant, which is quite an honor.

Conclusion: A long-time fellow missionary friend, Barrie Williamson, was involved in that type of training when he and wife Cherri lived in Singapore. I contacted Barrie and was glad to learn he was still involved in that training program, called "Equip Asia." So, I handed the reins over to him. Based in Singapore, it is a tremendously successful program that teaches and trains ethnic Asians in needed missionary skills within their own cultural environment. It integrates both classroom training and smartphone audio/video technology for distance learning.

Success: In fact, the Equip Asia training is being introduced to these Chinese house-church believers as I write. Please pray for good success. Praise God! He is not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance (2 Peter 3:9).

Lastly: We are now back in our Isan Ministry headquarters in Nakhon Phanom, Northeast Thailand. I preach here Sunday, June 18, then fly to Bangkok and home again on the 20th.
